

A framed document or text panel on the right wall, containing several lines of text, likely providing information about the exhibition or the subjects of the portraits.

